Mr. Lloyd Vaughan, Editor
The Times-Virginian,
Appomattox, Va.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I am writing this letter to you to inform your readers that there will be a second March for Victory in Vietnam which will be held in Washington on Sat., Oct. 3. The first March for Victory was held in Washington on April 4 with 100,000 persons present. The President of the United States was in the White House that afternoon but did not put in an appearance there and did not send a message to the group, although the group was only asking that the United States win its war.

Doesn't it seem reasonable that the United States should win any war it gets into? We didn't have a no-win policy when we went into World War I in France and Germany. We didn't have a non-win policy when we fought the Germans and Japanese in World War II. And I don't remember anyone burning draft cards in World War II – or so-called preachers teaching members of their congregations how to avoid the draft or inciting them to civil disobedience or citizens wearing the US flag on the seat of their pants; or burning the flag; Yes, Virginia Slims, we have come a long way – Down.

Dr Carl McIntire, who may be heard five days a week in this area from 9:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. over Blackstone Radio Station WKLV, 1440 Kcs, is again US chairman for this March for Victory , sponsored by the International Council of Christian Churches (not to be confused with the National Council of Churches) and many other organizations. He is calling for 500,000 patriotic, God-fearing christians to be in Washington on Oct. 3 for what should be the largest rally of christians ever to be held in Washington. Everyone is asked to have a fresh haircut, neat clothes, shined shoes and a Bible in his hands. Dr. Corbett Mask of Benton, Ark., president of the American Baptist Association, a fellowship of more than two thousand independent Baptist Churches, has announced that he will lead as many of his people as possible in the March for Victory on Oct. 3. The Hon. Watkins M. Abbitt, veteran member of Congress and known to all readers of this paper, has stated for publication that he is in accord with the principles of this March for Victory and will himself participate in it if circumstances permit. Many veterans organizations, among them the Veteran's of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, are endorsing this march and will participate.

In April, seven buses were chartered in Richmond to carry citizens to the March. I, myself, along with S. B. Doss, Jr., drove to Richmond and made the round trip from there. I would like to see enough people in the Appomattox area interested in this March to enable us to charter a bus from here or Lynchburg for the trip. If any of the readers of this newspaper are interested in this march and what it stands for and want more information, I will be glad to supply it to them. Like so many people, I feel that this is the only way I have to express myself and my beliefs concerning the way this country is going.

I don't want to see our soldiers being brought home from Vietnam in what amounts to dishonor – sorta like a whipped hound with his tail between his legs. I want them to come home in Victory, and with the prisoners of war with them. I want to see them march down 5th Avenue, N. Y., as conquering heroes, as our victorious armies have done in the past. Have you ever wondered at the way our prisoners of war are being considered by our government and how they think we will ever get them home if our soldiers leave Vietnam? Many of them were drafted and sent there beyond their will. Now our government has absolutely nothing to say for publication concerning what will happen to them. They just say, let us bring our boys home – but they don't say, "let us bring our prisoners of war home." The so-called greatest nation on earth is being treated by the Viet Cong as dirt and getting away with it.

A few years ago, when Kennedy was running for the office of President of the United States, he made great political hay over the fact that a poll of opinion taken in foreign countries showedthat the U.S. image had slipped way down the line all over the world. If the American image was bad then, what do you think about it now? Do you see any politician, either Democrat or Republican, asking for such a poll, now. The US has gone a long way down the road of defeat, but it hasn't lost yet. This March for Victory in Vietnam is a way for the silent majority in this country to show their true colors. Plan to attend the march on Oct. 3. Victory is the word on Oct. 3.

The Pastor Speaks

THIRSTY FOR GOD

Professor Harvey Cox of the Harvard Divinity School staged a loose experiment with religion in Boston during Easter, 1970. Cox brought together hundreds of students, hippies, blacks, whites, artists, and preachers into a student hangout known as "The Boston Tea Party." During the "worship service" some attendants painted wall posters protesting various actions of our government. A movie projector flashed images of Viet Nam atrocities on the wall. Dancers from the Harvard Divinity School entered and simulated agony, and in the background harsh music reminiscent of the passion of Christ was playing dissonantly.

By 3 a.m. the crowd had dwindled to fifteen hardcore. A rock band called "The Apocrypha" played "I Can't Get No Satisfaction." Professor Cox then entered dressed in white satin garments trimmed in pink embroidery, followed by five other clerics who were variously costumed in Byzantian and psychedelic robes. Cox stepped forward to an altar laden with fruit, bread, and wine and read the Gospel accounts of Christ's resurrection. When we finished, the silence was suddenly burst by the deafening noise of Handel's Hallelujah Chorus.

At 5:45 a.m. the entire affair was all over. People had come together, participated out of curiosity, some out of interest, but hoping for a real encounter with God. A policeman who was assigned to guard the area voiced the opinions of many when he said, "Man, this religion, this is '. . . chaos." All of this description brings a few comments from me. First, noise, emotion, and excitement aren't the same things as the worship of God. It is true that many people find the churches of today quite dull in their worship services, but psychedelic substitutes won't necessarily bring people one inch closer to God.

Second, men are genuinely thirsty for God. In Psalm 42: 1 David says, "As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God." One fact which this preacher is learning day by day is that people are genuinely hungry for real contact with God. They are not fakes and shams. They do want God.

Finally, this contact with God comes only through Jesus Christ. 1 John 1:7 tells us, "If we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

RECOGNIZING THE POTTAGE

Lesson for September 13, 1970

Background Scripture: Genesis 25:19 through 26:9; 36:1-8; Hebrews 12:15-17.
Devotional Reading: 1 John 2: 12-17

Jerry Kramer, former football star of the Green Bay Packers, tells of an occasion on which Vince Lombardi, who coached the Packers at the time, announced to the team: "There are three things that are important to every man in this room: his religion, his family, and the Green Bay Packers." Kramer goes on to comment: "Vince means what he says, but sometimes I think he gets the order confused' (INSTANT REPLAY by Jerry Kramer, New American Library, 1968).

A Sense of Values

That is a common failing with many of us. We know the im-

of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin."

If you yearn, seek, and desire a real contact with God, don't be misled into seeking it through psychedelic actions, spiritualism, TV preachers, individual solitude, or total indifference. Men can have genuine contact and fellowship with God, but it's available only through Jesus Christ. One who turns to Go, and says, "Lord I come to you as a needy sinner," will indeed find that he has fellowship with God, the maker of the universe and the redeemer of mankind.

working the Cape Race." Within a few short minutes after that message the Titanic collided with the iceberg and four hours later fifteen hundred people were drowned.

What had happened was that the radio operator in the Titanic was too occupied with the highly profitable business of sending and receiving telegrams to worry about iceberg warnings. The people on board the luxury liner were interested in the progress of the Cape Sailing Regatta, not icebergs. So, because they were too busy with the wrong thing, there was a needless loss of life.

"Working a Race"

So it may seem to the Essau's of today that there are tiresome warnings about this or that, interfering with our pleasures. To these warnings we too want to reply, "Shut up, I am busy; I am working a race," And what a race it is that we are working! We spend our days hard at the lines of that old spiritual:

Slow me down, Lord,
Ease me up too fast;
I can't see my brother
when he's walkin' past.
I miss a lot of good things
day by day,
I don't know a blessing
when it comes my way.

That's what we need; to be able to recognize the real blessings from the "pottage" which we are constantly buying.

Apprentice In Shipbuilding

Newport News – Charles Wayne Buchanan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Buchanan of Appomattox, Virginia, completed his studies August 1 at the Apprentice School of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, a subsidiary of Tenneco Inc. He will enter the military in December, 1970.

Buchanan entered the school in August, 1966, after graduation from Appomattox High School.

During his apprenticeship he was Business Editor on the Broad Afrom 1966–70 and Football Manager in 1968.

During its 50 years of operation, the Newport News Shipyard's Apprentice School has graduated more than 3,700 skilled workmen in 25 crafts. Vocational training and academic instruction equivalent to a junior college education are provided during the four and five year courses offered by the school. The program also includes athletics and other extracurricular activities.

The Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company is the world's largest and most fully integrated Shipyard. Among its most famous products are the United States, Forrestal, Enterprise, and John F. Kennedy.

New Chevrolet Here Thursday

Moses Motors calls it "Vega" – the "the little car that does everything well." It's the newest in the Chevy line and is on display beginning Thursday at Moses Motor Company.

In highway tests Vega has been getting gas mileage in the neighborhood of the little imports. The engine is a specially designed overhead cam four with a lightweight aluminum alloy block. Wheelbase is 97 inches and total length is nearly four feet shorter than a full-size Chevrolet.

Vega comes in four models– hatchback coupe, sedan, Kammback wagon and panel truck. The coupe has 90 horsepower or optional 110 with seating capacity –4 adults.

Moses Motors is invited customers and friends in to see the Vega and the other new Chevrolets for '71.

Western Tour

By: Mrs. B. C. Richardson

My husband,Bernard C.Richardson, and I have returned home after a three week tour of the Western States. We visited the Grand Canyons, Zion National Park, Bryce's Canyon, Yellow Stone National Park, Navajo Indian Reservation,Mt. Rushmore, Petrified Forest and many more places of interest. While in Arizona we spent a day in the Navajo Reservation, we learned a lot about the way they live and their customs, the beautiful monument valley is in this area.

We saw many great cattle ranches, large farming areas and many other interesting lines, including the leading U. S. carriers, are using retreaded tires on jet and other passenger aircraft. Last year they used 547,000 retreaded tires at a savings of about $73 million of the cost of new tire replacements.

The new breed of retreads has been made possible by vastly improved retreading equipment, materials and techniques, and quality control. They are giving a new look and greatly extended life to the popular wide oval and high performance tires of today.

This information was submitted by Webb's Tire Service, Appomattox.

Why A Retread ?

The current money pinch is touching off a big change in the buying habits of today's motorist, says Russell H. Lehman of Washingto, D.C., a top official of the Tire Retreading Institute.

It's prompting him to take a long look at the new breed of retread auto tires – and he's coming away with healthy respect for a product whose performance approximates that of a comparable new tire, at half the cost.

The new breed of retreaded tires today are as drastically different from the retreads of yesteryear as the mini-skirt is to the calf-length dress. More and more sports and conventional car drivers alike are discovering the difference, and that the price is right.

They've come to realize also that the world's foremost air-

WHAT'S ALL THIS LOOSE TALK ABOUT TIGHT MONEY?
The government's anti-inflation program is certainly in the news these days. So much so that it's become a favorite topic of conversation. Everybody, it seems, is talking about "tight money."
Well, just how tight is money, anyway? If you're a giant corporation that wants to borrow several million, it's very tight indeed. But if you're an individual who needs a personal loan for a sound purpose, that's another story. Because despite all the loose talk about tight money, Fidelity has money to lend. You can get it for needed home improvements, taxes or any real family requirement.
So if tight money has you in a bind, come to see us.
Chances are we can help.
